The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie AP War Anelyst

No WAR-IN HISTORY has produced such flaming drama as is now being staged on the battlefields of Europe, but one of the most impressive features of this great finale is a behind-the-scenes

This team-work has been particularly noticeable since the Crimean parley of the Big Three when important military decisions were taken to ensure full cooperation as the Allies push for the kill. Take today's news, for example:

lin finally has been launched in an dered thousands of his men to swim all-out assault along a 100-mile sector east of the capital. The Muscovite sphinx as usual says little. ut there's no reason to dispute the Hitlerite claim, especially since the Nazi leaders accompany it with a call to every man, woman and child

It isn't mere coincidence that this vastly important offensive should come just as Supreme Commander Eisenhower is completing his conthe western Rhineland. General Ike must pause at the great river barrier to get ready for the difficult and dangerous lunge across. So with beautiful timing, the Red armies swing another hay-maker at the harrassed Hitlerites to keep them from strengthening their

Bridgehead After Crossing In Dark

PARIS, March 8.-The American First army crossed the Rhine south of Cologne last night and secured a firm footing today on the east bank of the great German barrier stream

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges poured more and more infantrymen across the river after his sudden and sensational crossing in darkness. The exact location of the bridgehead over the quarter-mile wide river was shrouded by military censorship because the Germans obviously did not know the exact situation. First army infantrymen spanned the quarter-mile wide river against rather light opposition before the startled Germans could grasp what had happened, Associated Press Correspondent Wes Gallagher said.

The surprise announcement was passed by censors at 5:55 tonight after 24 hours of security blackout—used while events of great importance

Bridgehead After Crossing In Dark

PARIS, March 8.—The American First army crossed the Rhine south of Cologne last night and secured a firm footing today on the cast bank of the great German barrier stream.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges poured more and more infantrymen across the river after his sudden and sensational crossing in darkness. The exact location of the bridgehead over the quarter-mile wide river was shrouded by military censorship because the Germans obviously did not know the exact situation.

First army infantrymen spanned the quarter-mile wide river against rather light opposition before the startled Germans could grasp what had happened, Associated Press Correspondent Wes Gallagher said.

None of Whose Business?

In the discouragingly slow process of learning to think straight on cooperative security, one handicap Akron. is the notion that regional security can be kept separate from world security.

This problem has come up in the Inter-American conference at Mexico City. The committee dealing with world security proposed and caused to be adopted a resolution to permit American nations to settle their own disputes in accordance with their previous decision to accept cooperative responsibility for security in the New World. This resolution was not with a family fathering. supported by the United States, which is committed curity. It must be acted on decisively at the San church last evening. Francisco conference next month.

In effect, the resolution expresses the attitude that what goes on in a given sphere of influence, such as the Americas, is not the direct business of other nations with other spheres of influence. If followed land ave. through, of course, it would give to all other nations the same right-to act unilaterally in their own spheres of influence. That idea is in direct contradiction of cooperative security. If accepted, it would make a mockery of collective responsibility. On any given issue, the nations directly concerned could say, "This is our problem-please do not interfere with something that is none of your business."

This is only one of many threats to development of a United Nations organization that would be more than a lot of pious resolutions. It is only one of many instances on which delegates reflecting the people's desire for security either must think straight, or bear ultimate responsibility for a bad peace that ultimately will disintegrate and set the stage for World war III.

Back To the Beginning

In due course of time, Russian troops will surround and take Danzig; they are reported now to be approaching that city in their drive through East Prussia.

Danzig

It was Hitler's talking point in the fall of 1939, he dynamite cap that exploded World war II. That war, how far into its fifth year, has destroyed wealth that never can be replaced. It has littered the earth with corpses and ruin.

Danzig was a statesman's compromise. In 1919, at the close of World war I, Poland wanted an outlet to the sea, so statesmen created the Polish Corridor, which cut off East Prussia from the rest of Germany. The Poles wanted Danzig included in the Corridor, but the statesmen thought it would be wiser to make it and the surrounding territory a "free city," under the protection of the League of Nations. They also thought it would be wise to make Danzig part of the Polish customs system and to let Poland administer the city's port, its railroads and be responsiunder the projected settlement of World war II, it against economic collapse. will go to Poland outright. But first it must be recaptured by the Russians.

Battle For the Ruins

Cologne, once Germany's fifth largest metropolis is reported to be a dead city whose occupation by American troops this week is a military anti-climax First of the great German cities to feel the violence of modern air power, its fall was discounted before the first enemy columns reached its suburbs.

More important than the fall of the city itself is the fall of the region it served. Cologne became a favorite target for British-based air power because of its industries and commerce. It handled coal and coke and iron from the Ruhr. As a major Rhine port, it helped to make the river one of Germany's most important arteries of transportation.

For the duration of the war, Cologne will have only nominal value—the value of a strategically situated area of ruin with great potentialities. Perhaps it has been as completely devastated as Stalingrad, Warsaw, Rotterdam and Belgrade; the degree of devastation, however, is not important now. The city has been subtracted from Germany's strength to make war. With it has been subtracted much of the strength of the industrial Ruhr. In its ruins, air power has left a monument to the fearful power to destroy in minutes what men have labored for generations to build.

Cologne will rise from the ashes, but it never will be the same. Hitler and the German lust for conquest sacrificed it to the enemies they could not

Demobilizing Bureaucracy

By James Thrasher

"We must pay just as much attention to demobilizing the bureaucrats as we do to demobilizing the Army or Navy," said Sen. Arthur Vandenberg in a recent radio address.

The Michigan senator wasn't just making another ble for Danzig citizens abroad. The city became a Republican speech about a Democratic administration He admitted that the war had made bureaucracy in trouble. When Poland complained, the League could evitable; that generally it had been handled well; that do nothing. Finally, Nazis controlled the city. Now, many controls must remain after victory as insurance

At the same time Mr. Vandenberg cited the potential danger in a body of some 4,000 executive decrees which have the force of law, but not the background of open debate and voting of our law-making process. He warned of the tenacity of a bureaucracy, which might seek to perpetuate itself.

Certainly an expensive government payroll of more than 3,000,000 civilians is as foreign to our needs and traditions as an armed force of 10,000,000, however necessary both may be now. But there's a difference between the two groups: unlike most of the millions in the armed forces, the civilian army may not be anxious to go home.

So it seems logical that Mr. Vandenberg's proposed demobilization of the bureaucrats might also include a rehabilitation program. Some occupants of top drawers in our Washington bureaus may need Pepalits a room it before they are reconciled to returning to private

Washington has a considerable number of young men who came to the bureau straight out of college, or from the early beginning of a business or professional career. Many of them are bright young men. representing a possible source of national leadership in the coming postwar decade.

But their first experience with government has been in an unnatural atmosphere. They have had too much authority over the lives and livehhoods of their fellow citizens, with a minimum of responsibility. There has been too little to remind them that they are public servants.

Many wartime directives and decisions tracing from the young men in the alphabetical agencies reveal that they mistook ultimate authority for ultimate knowledge. They have made confusing and unworkable attempts to force complex industrial practices to conform to wartime needs without consulting those affected. And they have sometimes rejected advice through a suspicion that special knowledge can't exist without special pleading.

It probably should be made clear to these young H. E. Eakin went to Cleveland this morning on men that they were given emergency powers that most people believed were more necessary than wise. They should be convinced that ordinarily the people

During the last twenty years, the treatment of scarlet fever has changed to a great extent because of the new preparations which are

Three types of treatment are now possible: first, treatment with the sulfonamide drugs; second, the administration of scarlet fever antitoxin: and, third, the use of convalescent scarlet fever serum, which is blood serum taken from a patient who has recently recovered from It would appear that the sulfonamide drugs find their chief value in treating the complications of scarlet fever, such as infections of the ear, or of the lymph glands. These drugs are not of much benefit for the scarlet fever itself. Antitoxin prepared by injecting scarlet fever toxoid into horses and then withdrawing the blood serum does combat the disease itself. However, children or adults given this scarlet fever antitoxin frequently react to it because of the protein in the horse serum. These reactions may cause a rash, fever, and swollen joints. Hence, it may not be used when other forms of treatment are

None of Whose Business?

In the discouragingly slow process of learning to think straight on cooperative security, one handicap Akron. is the notion that regional security can be kept separate from world security.

This problem has come up in the Inter-American conference at Mexico City. The committee dealing with world security proposed and caused to be adopted a resolution to permit American nations to settle their own disputes in accordance with their previous decision to accept cooperative responsibility for security in the New World. This resolution was not supported by the United States, which is committed to worldwide security, as opposed to regional security. It must be acted on decisively at the San church last evening. Francisco conference next month.

In effect, the resolution expresses the attitude that what goes on in a given sphere of influence, such as the Americas, is not the direct business of other nations with other spheres of influence. If followed through, of course, it would give to all other nations the same right-to act unilaterally in their own hour starting March 15. spheres of influence. That idea is in direct contradiction of cooperative security. If accepted, it would make a mockery of collective responsibility. On any given issue, the nations directly concerned could say, "This is our problem-please do not interfere with something that is none of your business."

This is only one of many threats to development of a United Nations organization that would be more than a lot of pious resolutions. It is only one of many instances on which delegates reflecting the people's desire for security either must think straight, or bear ultimate responsibility for a bad peace that ultimately will disintegrate and set the stage for World war III.

Back To the Beginning

In due course of time, Russian troops will surround and take Danzig; they are reported now to be approaching that city in their drive through East

It was Hitler's talking point in the fall of 1939, he dynamite cap that exploded World war II. That war, how far into its fifth year, has destroyed wealth that never can be replaced. It has littered the earth with corpses and ruin.

Danzig was a statesman's compromise. In 1919, t the close of World war I, Poland wanted an outet to the sea, so statesmen created the Polish Corridor, which cut off East Prussia from the rest of Germany. The Poles wanted Danzig included in the Corridor, but the statesmen thought it would be wiser to make it and the surrounding territory a "free city," under the protection of the League of Nations. They also thought it would be wise to make Danzig part of the Polish customs system and to let Poland administer the city's port, its railroads and be responsiunder the projected settlement of World war II, it against economic collapse. will go to Poland outright. But first it must be recaptured by the Russians.

Battle For the Ruins

Cologne, once Germany's fifth largest metropolis is reported to be a dead city whose occupation by American troops this week is a military anti-climax First of the great German cities to feel the violence of modern air power, its fall was discounted before the first enemy columns reached its suburbs.

More important than the fall of the city itself is the fall of the region it served. Cologne became a favorife target for British-based air power because of its industries and commerce. It handled coal and coke and from from the Ruhr. As a major Rhine port it helped to make the river one of Germany's most important arteries of transportation.

For the duration of the war, Cologne will have only nominal value-the value of a strategically situated area of ruin with great potentialities. Perhaps it has been as completely devastated as Stalingrad. Warsaw, Rotterdam and Belgrade; the degree of devastation, however, is not important now. The city has been subtracted from Germany's strength to make war. With it has been subtracted much of the strength of the industrial Ruhr. In its ruins, air power has left a monument to the fearful power to destroy in minutes what men have labored for generations to

Demobilizing Bureaucracy By James Thrasher

"We must pay just as much attention to demobilizing the bureaucrats as we do to demobilizing the Army or Navy," said Sen. Arthur Vandenberg in a

Firmly, Nazis controlled the city. Now. many controls must remain after victory as insurance

At the same time Mr. Vandenberg cited the potential danger in a body of some 4,000 executive decrees which have the force of law, but not the background of open debate and voting of our law-making process. He warned of the tenacity of a bureaucracy, which might seek to perpetuate itself.

Certainly an expensive government payroll of more than 3,000,000 civilians is as foreign to our needs and traditions as an armed force of 10,000,000, however necessary both may be now. But there's a difference between the two groups: unlike most of the millions in the armed forces, the civilian army may not be anxious to go home.

So it seems logical that Mr. Vandenberg's proposed demobilization of the bureaucrats might also include a rehabilitation program. Some occupants of top drawers in our Washington bureaus may need PCDAINTS A TOOM it before they are reconciled to returning to private

Washington has a considerable number of young nen who came to the bureau straight out of college, or from the early beginning of a business or proessional career. Many of them are bright young men, epresenting a possible source of national leadership

But their first experience with government has been in an unnatural atmosphere. They have had too much authority over the lives and livehhoods of their fellow citizens, with a minimum of responsibility. There has been too little to remind them that they are public servants.

Many wartime directives and decisions tracing from the young men in the alphabetical agencies reveal that they mistook ultimate authority for ultimate knowledge. They have made confusing and unworkable attempts to force complex industrial practices to conform to wartime needs without consulting those affected. o MOST GI'S FAVOR MILITARY TRAINING AFTER WAR ENDS

By JAMES POWERS International News Writer

NEW YORK -- Most servicemen now overseas believe that the surest way to prevent World war III will be a compulsory military training program in America, according to a front line report.

Gene Roguski, formerly with International News Service's St. Louis ureau, now with the Army in France, reports that while some GI's are opposed to the idea, the majority favor it.

"Even those who oppose compul-ory military training," he says, believe nothing will stop its adoption, and they hope the program will be made attractive for the men to be affected by it.

They hope that scholastic courses will be offered in conjunction with the regular army training program something like the ROTC program now in effect in some American universities and colleges.

Would Save Children Roguski said there is great determination among battle-hardened GI's to make sure that their children do not have to go through the same experiences as they.

After, relating the story of one soldier who had been twice wounded and at first was terrified at returning to the frontline, Roguski com-

o MOST GI'S FAVOR MILITARY TRAINING AFTER WAR ENDS

By JAMES POWERS International News Writer

NEW YORK - Most servicemen now overseas believe that the surest way to prevent World war III will be a compulsory military training program in America, according to a front line report.

Gene Roguski, formerly with In-ternational News Service's St. Louis bureau, now with the Army in France, reports that while some GI's are opposed to the idea, the majority favor it.

"Even those who oppose compulsory military training," he says, "believe nothing will stop its adoption, and they hope the program will be made attractive for the men to be affected by it.

"They hope that scholastic course will be offered in conjunction with the regular army training program
—something like the ROTC program now in effect in some American universities and colleges.

Rhineland under weather conditions which normally would preclude such an operation. He took pressure off the Eastern front at a difficult moment for the Red command. The Muscovites had to neutralize the powerful enemy position at Stettin on the northern flank before attacking again in the center east of Berlin. They also had to improve local positions in the center. All these things have been done while the Western Allies drove through mud and water to the

As soon as he is ready, Eisenhower will hurl his armies across the Rhine. The Western Allies and the Red forces then will be racing for a junction in mid-Germany, if things go well with them

These aren't the only signs of intensified cooperation. You see it all the time. Today, for instance, we have a small news item saying that more than 1,250 Royal air force warplanes bombed Dessau, an important military base just south-west of Berlin. Dessau is only 100 miles behind the German eastern front, and its neutralization is of more immediate importance to the Russians than to the Western Allies. So the British bombers do a useful job for our Soviet Allies.

The Western Allies are up against the Rhine for 90 miles, from Cologne to the Dutch border, barring a small sector near Wesel. South of Cologne the American First and Third armies are closing up fast to the waterway. Our troops are on historic military ground, for the banks of the Rhine have felt the tread of Caesar, Atilla the Hun, Charlemagne, Napoleon and a host of other famous generals.

Set down among the vineyards and castle - land about 20 miles south of Cologne is an old town which the world won't soon forget. That's Godesberg, second meeting place of Hitler and British Prime Minister Chamberlain who was seeking to appease the Nazi dictator. It was Godesberg which really made it clear that Hitler was riding for war. He all but spat in Chamberlain's face, and while the latter still struggled to avert war, and carried his effort into the Mu-nich conference, we observers who James Cannon, 69, director of Not-of nutmeg. came away with gloomy thoughts. night.

for a junction in mid-Germany, if things go well with them.

These aren't the only signs of in-tensified cooperation. You see it all the time. Today, for instance, we have a small news item saying that more than 1.250 Royal air force warplanes bombed Dessau, an important military base just south-west of Berlin. Dessau is only 100 miles behind the German eastern miles behind the German eastern front, and its neutralization is of more immediate importance to the Russians than to the Western Allies. So the British bombers do a useful job for our Soviet Allies.

The Western Allies are up against the Rhine for 90 miles, from Co-logne to the Dutch border, barring a small sector near Wesel. South of Cologne the American First and Third armies are closing up fast to the waterway. Our troops are on historic military ground, for the banks of the Rhine have felt the tread of Caesar, Atilla the Hun, Charlemagne, Napoleon and a host of other famous generals.

Salem Meets Boardman In Tournament At 9 P. M. Tomorrow

Face Stiffest Tourney Try Yet As Stepping Stone For Chance At Canton Timke

In tournament play, a basketball team must take things step step, and the Salem Quakers, obviously pointing to a clash with Can Timken, must survive a difficult test with the Boardman aggregation now riding the crest of two tournament victories, to achieve the finale The contest, the second of Friday's tourney play at Youngsto South, will get under way at 9 p. m., following the Youngstown Ea Canton Timken battle.

Coach Bob Miller's lads, charged with more enthusiasm than they have displayed all year, are ready for the test at full strength for the first time since their last home game against Struthers on Feb. 16.

Guard Jimmie Appedisan is back in shape and has a full week's practice under his belt. The return of the veteran guard will send Salem's chances up considerably.

Walt Brian, Mutt Schaeffer, Appedisan, Ray Kelly, Francis Lan-ney and Norm Smith now comprise an outfit that should give any aggregation plenty to worry about. Without the sixth veteran on hand, Miller was forced to use subs not quite as valuable and not quite as experienced in the fray when a starter was forced out. In all probability, Miller will start the same combination that has clicked in the first two games at Youngstown. Brian at center, Lanney and Smith at guards and Kelly and Schaeffer at forwards are expected to get the nod. Appedisan unquestionably will see action.

Boardman, coached by Dave Hatcher, posted a season's record of 11 wins and six losses. In tourney play they took East Palestine, 59-53, and Youngstown Wilson 68-

In both frays the play of the Boardman club was impressive. Their shooting ability is among the best seen at the sectional and the team has height, scrap and reserve

The starting five includes Veterans Tony Smith at pivot, Jim Metz and Paul Walters at guards and Wilson Fletcher and John Jardine at forwards. Smith and Wilson are over six feet tall.

Smith has been a tournament standout collecting 37 points in two games. Metz and Fletcher are dead shots and the entire club works an amazingly rapid fast break.

Comparative scores would give the Quakers an edge. Colum-biana smashed Boardman 52-34 on the Clipper floor while the Clippers could only edge Salem 40-39 on the same floor.

East Palestine, a weak outfit, gave the Boardman lads a terrific battle in the opening tournament me a factor that does not add to Boardman's prowess in the books. However, the scrappy outfit is definitely out to stay in the tour-

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK, March 8. - Arthur Donovan, the fight referee, was explaining his theories of judging fights to the member of the New York Boxing Writers' association, who have been somewhat conufused by Commissioner Eddie Eagan's efforts to find a more satisfactory Dole system.... His efforts didn't di-minish the confusion to any great extent as Donovon reviewed the changes that have taken place in New York over a period of years, for Arthur referred to the boxers as "this fellow" and "that fellow" and the conclusion of each episode was: "Naturally there was a hellabaloo so they threw that rule out the window.".... But at the end he left the impression that he prefers the present system of counting rounds won and lost to any point system—providing the judge has the option of awarding the decision to a fighter who is clearly superior even though he won fewer rounds; that he figures aggressiveness, it effective, is very important and a knockdown "is something".... The referee summed it all up in one question that no one could answer: "So, what system are you going to have outside of what has remained

NOT QUITE CLEAR

A late arrival, Henry Arm-strong, was called upon for a few words before his departure for an overseas USO tour. "I wandered in here in the mid-"I wandered in here in the mid-dle of a discussion of scoring," Hank remarked. "I've had some bad decisions against me, like that one against Chester Slider out in Oakland where I beat him every round, broke his leg, and still lost the decision. I've often wondered how those things were scored."... That broke up the meeting.

from all those systems that didn't hold up? If they'd been any good, would have held up."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Bill Voiselle, who won 21 games for the Giants last season, tips opposing batters that it'll be muropposing batters that it'll be murder if they try to bunt against him this year... Bill has been drilling all winter at Ninety Six, S. C., fielding bunts tapped out by his wife and he lost eight of his 228 pounds in one workout, chasing balls that got away from him down a half-mile hillside.... What Manager Mel Ott probably would like to know is can Mrs. V. hit a curve ball and go to her left for a grounder.

The plot at Youngstown is thickening. Four more games—two to-night and two tomorrow night—will decide which four teams go into the district finals Saturday to determine the pair of outfits to continue in tourney play at the Kent regional next week.

Incidentally, the two teams to represent Youngstown at Kent will have to draw—along with three others—to determine which of the five squads will have to play in the Dennison regional. Five teams will take part in the first drawing at Kent, but only four are allowed to play there. The extra squad will play in the Dennison four-team regional.

Salem's Quakers had a tough workout the other evening against Campbell Memorial's five on the South field house floor. Big Bob Roper, who towers six feet eight inches, is one of two danger signs on the Campbell team. Steve O'Dea is the other.

Campbell, incidentally, galloped off to a 14-2 lead before the locals of down to steady play. Salem equalled and surpassed Campbell's total fore the two-hour session was over. No official score was kept, how-

Tonight Canton McKinley's Jim Rawers, six feet four inches, and a entender for All-State honors at center, will tangle with Roper of emorial in the first game at South. The results should be well worth atching. If Memorial can keep their starting five in the game, Mc-inley promises to have a full evening.

The other feature at South tonight books Canton Township's red-ot cagers against Youngstown South's "seeded" aggregation. The Cann fans are looking for an upset and a large crowd from there is excted with two Stark county school in action

A large bouquet of compliments is due Tournament Director Dave Williams for the splendid fashion in which he has run the sectional-district meet at South. His accommodations for players, fans and others has been letter-perfect all the way through. It will be a long time tefore this district can find a more commodious, hospitable place for their tournament than the South High field house as run by Williams.

Officiating at the Youngstown affair is head and shoulders above at seen in B tournaments at McDonald and Kent. Joe Check, Andy insay and John Russ are well versed in their basketball and their forts are obviously well-intended. One of the three will probably make s way straight through to the finals at Toledo. Russ was chosen last ason for both the regional and final games.

Who draws the tough assignment of meeting Columbiana in the 2 m. game at Kent Saturday will be determined tonight at Kent when oudonville and Ashtabula Harbor meet at 6 p. m. Ashtabula Harbor as won 11 and lost nine while Loudonville has won 15 and lost five. oth have two tourney wins above their regular season totals.

Salem Meets Boardman In Tournament At 9 P. M. Tomorrow

Face Stiffest Tourney Try Yet As Stepping Stone For Chance At Canton Timken

In tournament play, a basketball team must take things step, and the Salem Quakers, obviously pointing to a clash with Ca Timken, must survive a difficult test with the Boardman aggrega The contest, the second of Friday's tourney play at Youngs South, will get under way at 9 p. m., following the Youngstown Fonton Timken battle. now riding the crest of two tournament victories, to achieve the final

And No Points

Cosch Bob Miller's lads, charged with more enthusiasm than they have displayed all year, are ready for the test at full strength for the first time since their last home game against Struthers on Feb. 16.

Guard Jimmie Appedisan is back in shape and has a full week's prac-tice under his belt. The return of the veteran guard will send Salem's

starter was forced out.

In all probability, Miller will start the same combination that has clicked in the first two games at Youngstown. Brian at center, Lamney and Smith at guards and Kelly and Schaeffer at forwards are expected to get the nod. Appedisan unquestionably will see action.

Boardman, coached by Dave Hatcher, posted a season's record of 11 wins and six losses. In tourney play they took East Palestine, 59-53, and Youngstown Wilson 68-

In both frays the play of the Boardman club was impressive. Their shooting ability is among the best seen at the sectional and the team has height, scrap and reserve

The starting five includes Veterans Tony Smith at pivot, Jim Metz and Paul Walters at guards and Wilson Fletcher and John Jardine at forwards. Smith and Wilson are over six feet tall.

Smith has been a tournament andout, collecting 37 points in two ames. Metz and Fletcher are dead ots and the entire club works an nazingly rapid fast break.

Comparative scores would give the Quakers an edge. Colum-biana smashed Boardman 52-34 on the Clipper floor while the Clippers could only edge Salem 46-39 on the same floor.

East Palestine, a weak outfit gave the Boardman lads a terrific battle in the opening tournament game, a factor that does not add to Boardman's prowess in the books.

However, the scrappy outfit is definitely out to stay in the tour-

SPORT CHATTER

BY RUGH FULLERTON, JR. Donovan, the fight referee, was ex-plaining his theories of judging fights to the member of the New York Boxing Writers' association, no have been somewhat conufused Commissioner Eddie Eagan's eforts to find a more satisfactory ystem.... His efforts didn't di-ninish the confusion to any great extent as Donovon reviewed the changes that have taken place in New York over a period of years, for Arthur referred to the boxers as "this fellow" and "that fellow" and the conclusion of each episode was: "Naturally there was a hellabaloo so they threw that rule out the window."

But at the end he left the impression that he pre-fers the present system of counting rounds won and lost to any point system—providing the judge has the option of awarding the decision to a fighter who is clearly superior even though he won fewer rounds. that he figures aggressiveness. If effective, is very important and a knockdown "is something."... The referee summed it all up in one question that no one could answer: "So, what system are you going to have outside of what has remained. from all those systems that didn't hold up? It they'd been any good they would have held up."

NOT QUITE CLEAR

A late arrival. Henry Armstrong, was called upon for a few words before his departure for an overseas USO tour. "I wandered in here in the middle of a discussion of scoring," Stank remarked. "I've had some bad decisions against me, like that one against Chester Slider out in Oakland where I beat him every round, broke his leg, and still lost the decision. I've often wondered how those things were scored." That broke up the meeting.

MORTS AND SHELLS

Bill Voisele, who won 21 games for the Giants last season, tips opposing batters that it'll be murder if they try to bunt against him this year. ... Bill has been drilling all winter at Ninety Six, S. C. fielding bunts tapped out by his wife and he lost eight of his 228 pounds in one workout, chasing balls that got away from him down a half-mile hillside.... What Manager Mel Ost probably would like to know is can Mrs. V. hit a curve ball and go to her left for a grounder.

Too Crowded? Ed Bang, Veteran Newsman, 10MMY BELL WINS Looks Like Just 4 Tribe To Be Speaker At Athletic OVER RICHARDSON Club "Fan Meeting" Tuesday Knocks Clevelander For Players Will Report for Training Monday

Ardent baseball fans, itching for an early start at discussing the coming season and hashing over the past one, will have a golden opportunity at the Memorial building at 8 p. m. Tuesday when the Salem Athletic club sponsors a baseball "get-together," complete with World Series movies and a talk by Ed Bang, veteran sports editor of the Cleve-(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, March 8.—The his chiefs merely grunted when asked how many Cleveland Indians were expected Monday at the opening of training camp so Sports Writer Ed McCauley of the Cleveland News conducted a poll by telegraph.

Yesterday he received replies from 11 Tribesmen which in-

Catcher Buddy Rosar and Pitcher Ray Poat were undecided because of war work and selective service possibilities. Hurler Jim Bagby would report sometime after the opening of training at Lafayette, Ind., because his wife was ill.

On hand Monday will be Pitchers Paul Calvert and Steve Gromek, Outfielder Pat Seerey and Catcher George Susce.

Tournament Side Glances

night and two tomorrow night—will decide which four teams go into the district finals Saturday to determine the pair of outfits to continue in tourney play at the Kent regional next week

Incidentally, the two teams to represent Youngstown at Kent will have to draw—along with three others—to determine which of the five squads will have to play in the Dennison regional. Five teams will take part in the first drawing at Kent, but only four are allowed to play there. The extra squad will play in the Dennison four-team regional.

Salem's Quakers had a tough workout the other evening against Campbell Memorial's five on the South field house floor. Big Bob Roper, who towers six feet eight inches, is one of two danger signs on the Campbell team. Steve O'Dea is the other.

Campbell, incidentally, galloped off to a 14-2 lead before the locals got down to steady play. Salem equalled and surpassed Campbell's total before the two-hour session was over. No official score was kept, how-

Tonight Canton McKinley's Jim Rawers, six feet four inches, and a contender for All-State honors at center, will tangle with Roper of Memorial in the first game at South. The results should be well worth watching. If Memorial can keep their starting five in the game, Mc-Kinley promises to have a full evening.

The other feature at South tonight books Canton Township's red-hot cagers against Youngstown South's "seeded" aggregation. The Can-ton fans are looking for an upset and a large crowd from there is ex-pected with two Stark county school in action.

A large bouquet of compliments is due Tournament Director Dave Williams for the splendid fashion in which he has run the sectional-district meet at South. His accommodations for players, fans and others has been letter-perfect all the way through. It will be a long time tofore this district can find a more commodious, hospitable place for their tournament than the South High field house as run by Williams.

Officiating at the Youngstown affair is head and shoulders above t seen in B tournaments at McDonald and Kent. Joe Check, Andy say and John Russ are well versed in their basketball and their orts are obviously well-intended. One of the three will probably make way straight through to the finals at Toledo. Russ was chosen last son for both the regional and final games.

Who draws the tough assignment of meeting Columbiana in the 2 m. game at Kent Saturday will be determined tonight at Kent when udonville and Ashtabula Harbor meet at 6 p. m. Ashtabula Harbor s won 11 and lost nine while Loudonville has won 15 and lost five. th have two tourney wins above their regular season totals.

Salem Meets Boardman In Tournament At 9 P. M. Tomorrow

Face Stiffest Tourney Try Yet As Stepping Stone For Chance At Canton Timken

In tournament play, a basketball team must take things step step, and the Salem Quakers, obviously pointing to a clash with Car Timken, must survive a difficult test with the Boardman aggregat now riding the crest of two tournament victories, to achieve the finale

The contest, the second of Friday's tourney play at Youngstouth, will get under way at 9 p. m., following the Youngstown E Canton Timken battle.

Coach Bob Miller's lads, charged with more enthusiasm charged with more enthusiasm than they have displayed all year, are ready for the test at full strength for the first time since their last home game against Struthers on Feb. 16.

Guard Jimmie Appedisan is back in shape and has a full week's practice under his belt. The return of the veteran guard will send Salem's chances up considerably.

Walt Brian, Mutt Schaeffer, Appedisan, Ray Kelly, Francis Lanney and Norm Smith now comprise an outfit that should give any aggregation plenty to worry about.

Without the sixth veteran on hand, Miller was forced to use subs not quite as valuable and not quite as experienced in the fray when a starter was forced out. In all probability, Miller will start the same combination that has clicked in the first two games at Youngstown. Brian at center, Lanney and Smith at guards and Kelly and Schaeffer at forwards are expected to get the nod. Appedisan unquestion-

Boardman, coached by Dave Hatcher, posted a season's record of 11 wins and six losses. In tourney play they took East Palestine, 59-53, and Youngstown Wilson 68-

In both frays the play of the Boardman club was impressive. Their shooting ability is among the best seen at the sectional and the team has height, scrap and reserve

The starting five includes Vet-erans Tony Smith at pivot, Jim Metz and Paul Walters at guards and Wilson Fletcher and John Jardine at forwards. Smith and Wilson are over six feet tall.

Smith has been a tournament standout, collecting 37 points in two games. Metz and Fletcher are dead shots and the entire club works an amazingly rapid fast break.

Comparative scores would give the Quakers an edge. Columbiana smashed Boardman 52-34 on the Clipper floor while the Clippers could only edge Salem 40-39 on the same floor.

East Palestine, a weak outfit, gave the Boardman lads a terrific battle in the opening tournament game, a factor that does not add to A Boardman's prowess in the books.

However, the scrappy outfit is definitely out to stay in the tour-

SPORT CHATTER

NEW YORK, March 8. - Arthur

Donovan, the fight referee, was ex-plaining his theories of judging fights to the member of the New York Boxing Writers' association, who have been somewhat conufused by Commissioner Eddie Eagan's efforts to find a more satisfactory system.... His efforts didn't di-minish the confusion to any great extent as Donovon reviewed the changes that have taken place in New York over a period of years, for Arthur referred to the boxers as "this fellow" and "that fellow" and the conclusion of each episode was: "Naturally there was a hellabaloo so they threw that rule out the window.".... But at the end he left the impression that he prefers the present system of counting rounds won and lost to any poin system-providing the judge has the option of awarding the decision to a fighter who is clearly superior even though he won fewer rounds; that he figures aggressiveness, if effective, is very important and a knockdown "is something."..... The referee summed it all up in one question that no one could answer: "So, what system are you going to have outside of what has remained from all those systems that didn't hold up? If they'd been any good, they would have held up.

NOT QUITE CLEAR

A late arrival, Henry Arm-strong, was called upon for a few words before his departure for an overseas USO tour...."I wandered in here in the middle of a discussion of scoring," Hank remarked. "I've had some bad decisions against me, like that one against Chester Slider out in Oakland where I beat him every round, broke his leg. and still lost the decision. I've often wondered how those things were scored.".... That broke up the meeting.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Bill Voiselle, who won 21 games for the Giants last season, tips opposing batters that it'll be murder if they try to bunt against him this year... Bill has been drilling all winter at Ninety Six, S. C., fieldall winter at Ninety Six, S. C., fielding bunts tapped out by his wife and he lost eight of his 228 pounds in one workout, chasing balls that got away from him down a half-mile hillside.... What Manager Mel Ott probably would like to know is can Mrs. V. hit a curve ball and go to her left for a grounder.

Training Monday

CLEVELAND, March 8 .- The big chiefs merely grunted when asked how many Cleveland Indians were expected Monday at the opening of training camp so Sports Writer Ed McCauley of the Cleveland News conducted a poll by telegraph.

Yesterday he received replies from 11 Tribesmen which in-

Pitcher Joe Heving, First Baseman Mickey Rocco and Outfielder Roy Cullenbine were Catcher Buddy Rosar and

Pitcher Ray Poat were undecided because of war work and selective service possibilities. Hurler Jim Bagby would report sometime after the opening of training at Lafayette, Ind.,

because his wife was ill. On hand Monday will be Pitchers Paul Calvert and Steve Gromek, Outfielder Pat Seerey and Catcher George Susce.

Salem's Quakers had a tough workout the other evening against Campbell Memorial's five on the South field house floor. Big Bob Roper, who towers six feet eight inches, is one of two danger signs on the Campbell team. Steve O'Dea is the other.

Campbell, incidentally, galloped off to a 14-2 lead before the locals got down to steady play. Salem equalled and surpassed Campbell's total before the two-hour session was over. The other feature at South tonight books Canton Township's red-hot cagers against Youngstown South's "seeded" aggregation. The Can-ton fans are looking for an upset and a large crowd from there is exected with two Stark county school in action.

A large bouquet of compliments is due Tournament Director Dave Williams for the splendld fashion in which he has run the sectional-district meet at South. His accommodations for players, fans and others has been letter-perfect all the way through. It will be a long time tefore this district can find a more commodious, hospitable place for their tournament than the South High field house as run by Williams.

Salem Meets Boardman In Tournament At 9 P. M. Tomorrow

Face Stiffest Tourney Try Yet As Stepping Stone For Chance At Canton Timken

In tournament play, a basketball team must take things step by step, and the Salem Quakers, obviously pointing to a clash with Canton Timken, must survive a difficult test with the Boardman aggregation, now riding the crest of two tournament victories, to achieve the finale.

The contest, the second of Friday's tourney play at Youngstown Bouth, will get under way at 9 p. m., following the Youngstown East-Canton Timken battle.

And No Points

Coach Bob Miller's lads, charged with more enthusiasm than they have displayed all year, are ready for the test at full strength for the first time since their last home game against Struthers on Feb. 16.

Guard Jimmie Appedisan is back in shape and has a full week's prac-tice under his belt. The return of the veteran guard will send Salem's chances up considerably.

wait Brian, Mutt Schaeffer, Appedisan, Ray Kelly, Francis Lanney and Norm Smith now comprise an outfit that should give any aggregation plenty to worry about.

Without the sixth veteran on hand, Miller was forced to use substant quite as experienced in the fray when a as experienced in the fray when s starter was forced out.

In all probability, Miller will start the same combination that has clicked in the first two games at Youngstown. Brian at center, Lanney and Smith at guards and Kelly and Schaeffer at forwards are expected to get the nod. Appedican unquestion-ably will see action.

Boardman, coached by Dave Hatcher, posted a season's record of 11 wins and six losses. In tour-ney play they took East Palestine, 20-53, and Youngstown Wilson 68-

In both frays the play of the Boardman club was impressive.
Their shooting ability is among the best seen at the sectional and the team has height, scrap and reserve

The starting five includes Vet-Mets and Paul Walters at guards and Wilson Fletcher and John Jardine at forwards. Smith and Wilson are over aix feet tall.

Smith has been a tournament andout, collecting 37 points in two arms. Metz and Fletcher are dead nots and the entire club works an maxingly rapid fast break.

Comparative scores would give the Quakers an edge. Colum-biana smashed Boardman 52-34 on the Clipper floor while the Clippers could only edge Salem 16-29 on the same floor.

East Palestine, a weak outfit, gave the Boardman lads a terrific mattle in the opening tournament name, a factor that does not add to However, the scrappy outfit is efinitely out to stay in the tour-

Donovan, the fight referee, was ex-plaining his theories of judging fights to the member of the New York Boxing Writers' association, who have been somewhat conufused y Commissioner Eddie Eagan's ef-orts to find a more satisfactory ystem.... His efforts didn't di-ninish the confusion to any great untent as Donovon reviewed the banges that have taken place in the York over a period of years, or Arthur referred to the boxers in "this fellow" and "that fellow" nd the conclusion of each episode fers the present system of counting rounds won and lost to any point system—providing the judge has the option of awarding the decision to a fighter who is clearly superior even though he won fewer rounds that he figures aggressiveness, if offective, is very important and a knockdown "is something."... The referee summed it all up in one question that no one could answer: So, what system are you going to have outside of what has remained poin all those systems that didn't hold up? If they'd been any good, they would have held up."

NOT QUITE CLEAR

A late arrival. Henry Armstrong, was called upon for a few words before his departure for an overseax USO tour. "I wandered in here in the middle of a discussion of scoring," Harik remarked. "I've had some bad decisions against me, like that one against Chester Slider out in Oakland where I beat him every round, brake his leg, and still lost the decision. I've often wondered how those things were scored." That broke up the meeting.

Players Will Report for Training Monday

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, March 8.—The big chiefs merely grunted when asked how many Cleveland Indians were expected Monday at the opening of training camp so Sports Writer Ed McCauley of the Cleveland News conducted a poll by telegraph.

Yesterday he received replies from 11 Tribesmen which in-

Pitcher Joe Heving, First Baseman Mickey Rocco and Outfielder Roy Cullenbine were

Catcher Buddy Rosar and Pitcher Ray Poat were undecid-ed because of war work and selective service possibilities Hurler Jim Bagby would report sometime after the opening of training at Lafayette, Ind., because his wife was ill.

On hand Monday will be Pitchers Paul Calvert and Steve Gromek, Outfielder Pat Seerey and Catcher George Susce

Ardent baseball fans, itching for an early start at discussing the coming season and hashing over the past one, will have a golden opportunity at the Memorial building at 8 p. m. Hershey Bears Tighten Grip On Hockey League

By defeating the Pittsburgh Hornets 3-1 on their home ice last night, the Hershey Bears solidified their hold on second place in the Eastern division of the American Hockey league race and improved their chance for a play-off berth.

Tournament Side Glances

The plot at Youngstown is thickening. Four more games—two to-night and two tomorrow night—will decide which four teams go into the district finals Saturday to determine the pair of outfits to continue in ourney play at the Kent regional next week.

Incidentally, the two teams to represent Youngstown at Kent will have to draw—along with three others—to determine which of the five squads will have to play in the Dennison regional. Five teams will take part in the first drawing at Kent, but only four are allowed to play there. The extra squad will play in the Dennison four-team regional.

Salem's Quakers had a tough workout the other evening against Campbell Memorial's five on the South field house floor. Big Bob Roper, who towers six feet eight inches, is one of two danger signs on the Campbell team. Steve O'Dea is the other.

Campbell, incidentally, galloped off to a 14-2 lead before the locals got down to steady play. Salem equalled and surpassed Campbell's total before the two-hour session was over. No official score was kept, how-

Tonight Canton McKinley's Jim Rawers, six feet four inches, and a contender for All-State honors at center, will tangle with Roper of Memorial in the first game at South. The results should be well worth watching. If Memorial can keep their starting five in the game, Mc-Kinley promises to have a full evening.

The other feature at South tonight books Canton Township's red-hot cagers against Youngstown South's "seeded" aggregation. The Can-ton fans are looking for an upset and a large crowd from there is ex-pected with two Stark county school in action.

A large bouquet of compliments is due Tournament Director Dave Williams for the splendid fashion in which he has run the sectional-district meet at South. His accommodations for players, fans and others has been letter-perfect all the way through. It will be a long time typore this district can find a more commodious, hospitable place for their tournament than the South High field house as run by Williams.

Officiating at the Youngstown affair is head and shoulders above that seen in B tournaments at McDonald and Kent. Joe Check, Andy Linsay and John Russ are well versed in their basketball and their efforts are obviously well-intended. One of the three will probably make his way straight through to the finals at Toledo. Russ was chosen season for both the regional and final games.

Who draws the tough assignment of meeting Columbiana in the 2 m. geme at Kent Saturday will be determined tonight at Kent when Loudonville and Ashtabula Harbor meet at 6 p. m. Ashtabula Harbor has won 11 and lost nine while Loudonville has won 15 and lost five
